“For me, cultural fit was a key factor. I wanted a supportive environment that could help me grow, and that’s exactly what I found here. While there was always friendly competition in our courses, it was not cutthroat. We helped each other with our studies, pushing ourselves to do our best work, and shared leads and tips during the job search.”

MESSAGE FROM THE DEAN

The year 2012 marked a historic shift for our business school. A $50 million gift from an alumnus, Ernest Scheller Jr., led to a new name for our College. This was a major milestone along our path to becoming the world's preeminent business school for technology and business.

What this means for you is that there has never been a better time to become a part of our College community, build your network through our impressive roster of students and alumni, and start taking your career to higher levels.

Our College thrives at the intersection of business and technology. Here you'll learn to leverage technology for competitive advantage, and you'll gain the perspective you need to succeed at home and abroad.

Georgia Tech MBA students learn from the best. Our faculty members are highly esteemed for both their teaching and research, and many professors have extensive consulting and industry experience. You will be able to customize your studies for a diverse range of career paths, while benefiting from a curriculum that stresses teamwork and innovative solutions to real-world problems.

Thanks to the College's location in Technology Square, you'll be learning in the heart of Atlanta's business community — just steps away from great career opportunities.

We encourage you to visit our distinctive learning community to see what sets us apart.

ERNEST “ERNIE” SCHELLER JR. graduated from the College with a bachelor’s degree in 1952. He is chairman emeritus of Pennsylvania-based Silberline Manufacturing Inc., a company his father founded in the 1940s. Silberline is a key global supplier of high-quality pigments—primarily to the automobile industry—that tremendously enhance the visual appeal of coatings, paints, inks, plastics, and textiles. Scheller credits the College with teaching him “the importance of perseverance and persistence.”

He says: “I have never been more optimistic about the future of Georgia Tech and its College of Business, and I am eager to see the great things that will happen there in the coming years.”
