Official Statement

Admissions Site

Boston College

If you have taken the SAT more than once, Boston College will take the highest individual section scores from each date and combine those scores.

BC Admissions

Boston University

Boston University will allow students to choose College Board's Score Choice; however, we strongly recommend students submit their scores each time they take the SAT. BU has always considered a student's highest SAT section scores in making admissions decisions and will continue to do so.

BU Admissions

Brown

We automatically focus on your highest test scores and therefore Score Choice is a bit redundant.

Brown Admissions

Columbia

Applicants may select the Score Choice option for the SAT. When evaluating applicants, we consider only the highest testing results reported from individual sections of the SAT...We are always seeking to give students the greatest opportunity to showcase their academic talents and hoping to make the testing experience as stress-free as possible. We encourage applicants to take these examinations no more than twice, but we do not penalize applicants for exceeding that recommendation.

Columbia Admissions

Duke

Duke requires that students send their full testing record for the SAT. Duke will use the highest available Critical Reading, Writing and Math scores, regardless of the date those tests were taken.

Students graduating from high school in 2017 may submit either the new or old SAT. Duke does not have a preference for either test, but if you choose to submit both, Duke will consider the stronger score as determined by concordance tables. Students graduating in 2018 will be required to submit the new SAT.

Duke Admissions

Georgetown

Georgetown University does not participate in the Score Choice option available through the College Board. Georgetown requires that you submit scores from all test sittings of the SAT. If an applicant takes the SAT more than once, the admissions committees will consider the highest critical reading score and the highest math score from multiple test sessions when reviewing the application.

Georgetown Admissions

Georgia Institute of Technology

Send us your scores when you take the test – don't wait! Your scores may fluctuate with each test instance, but we will only use the highest section in our review of your application. Delaying sending us your scores could put you at risk of missing an application date or being excluded from information sent from our office.

Georgia Tech Admissions

Harvard

You are free to use the College Board Score Choice option.

Harvard Admissions

Johns Hopkins

Johns Hopkins University considers your highest section scores across all SATs taken—even if they were on different test dates—in our evaluation of your application. We therefore encourage you to update your application with new test scores each time you take the SATs.

Hopkins Admissions

MIT

If you take the same test multiple times, we will consider the highest score achieved in each section. We do this in order to consider all applicants in their best light. Students are free to use the College Board's Score Choice option to submit the scores of your choice as well.

MIT Admissions

New York University

With regard to the SAT, NYU participates in Score Choice, enabling you to elect which tests you want to send to NYU. If you take the SAT multiple times, we will only review the highest Critical Reading, Math, and Writing scores you submit, regardless of test dates, creating the highest possible composite score for you in our evaluation process.

NYU Admissions

Notre Dame

For our evaluation we will use your highest individual SAT Critical Reading and Math subscores from multiple testing dates to compute your composite score.

Notre Dame Admissions

Princeton

Applicants are welcome to use the Score Choice option for standardized test score submission. Princeton will consider the highest individual section results across all sittings of the SAT Reasoning. We encourage applicants to submit all official test scores as soon as they are available.

Princeton Admissions

Stanford

For the SAT, we will focus on the highest individual Critical Reading, Math and Writing scores from all test sittings. We will superscore the results from the current and redesigned SAT separately.

Stanford Admissions

University of Chicago

We recommend you send us all of your test scores. Only your best testing results (highest sub-scores AND/OR best result of the 2 testing options – SAT vs ACT) will be included/used in your admission review. Lower testing will not be included in your final/official application so it cannot count against you.

U Chicago Admissions

University of Connecticut

We will accept the highest scores from your combined test dates.

U Conn Admissions

University of Miami

If you take the test more than once, you must send us all of your scores to ensure that we have your best performance on record. We will continue to superscore the SAT, but will only combine scores from like tests (in other words, we will not combine a student's best score from the new SAT with the best score from the current SAT).

U Miami Admissions

University of North Carolina

If you send us scores from multiple test dates, we'll take your highest score for each section of the test and consider those scores as we evaluate your application. If you send us both an SAT and an ACT, we'll look at whichever is higher.

UNC Admissions

University of Southern California

For students who take the SAT more than once, USC records the highest scores for each section – Critical Reading, Mathematics, and Writing -- even if achieved at different sittings.

USC Admissions

University of Virginia

It has been the Office of Admission's long-standing policy to consider the best test scores submitted by applicants. When reviewing SAT scores, we use the top score from each section across all administrations of the exam. We hope you will submit all of your scores knowing that we will recombine the sections to get the best possible set of scores.

UVA Admissions

Vanderbilt

Vanderbilt University has indicated that it considers your highest section scores across all SAT test dates that you submit. Only your highest section scores will be considered as part of the final admissions decision. Each time you submit scores, Vanderbilt University will update your record with any new high scores. Vanderbilt University strongly encourages you to submit your scores each time you take the SAT.

Vanderbilt Admissions

Villanova

Candidates are asked to submit the scores from each sitting of the SAT. The Admission Committee will review the highest critical reading and highest math scores from the SAT from different dates for admission.

Villanova Admissions

Virginia Tech

Virginia Tech wants to see all of your test scores. We will use the highest scores and even combine your highest test scores from multiple test dates when evaluating your application.

Virginia Tech Admissions

Yale

When assessing SAT results, admissions officers will focus on your highest individual old or new scores from all test dates. For example, if you took the old SAT twice, your highest Critical Reading, Math and Writing scores will be considered individually. If you took the new SAT twice, your highest Evidence-Based Reading and Writing, Math and Essay scores will be considered individually. If you took both types of SAT, the admissions office will treat them separately and review the best scores on each test.

Yale Admissions

For most schools, you can find their policies toward standardized testing on their admissions website. You can also search for "name of college + PrepScholar" to access our large database of colleges and their admission requirements. Below is the complete list of colleges that superscore the SAT.

Get ready: it's a pretty long list.

Complete List of Colleges that Superscore the SAT

Here are all the schools that have a policy of taking your "highest section" scores across test dates to form your highest possible composite score, according to the College Board. Since this list is huge, I recommend using "Ctrl + f" to find any particular schools of interest.

Let me know in the comments if I missed any, and I'll keep updating as colleges release their policies for the new SAT!
